

Celebrate

Jennifer Toth NHSLMA School Librarian of the Year

The 30th Annual New Hampshire Excellence in Education Awards recognize New Hampshire schools and individuals who meet high standards of excellence. The criteria used in selecting outstanding individuals to be honored are determined by their sponsoring organizations.

Follow us!
@nh-edies

About

Jennifer Toth of Atkinson Academy has been honored as the School Librarian of the Year by the New Hampshire School Library Media Association (NHSLMA). Jennifer's commitment to her students is evident in the multifaceted support she provides daily, helping them find everything from the perfect book to the right resources for their research projects. Her ability to meet student needs at just the right moment has made the library a beloved and bustling hub within the school. Her role extends beyond the walls of Atkinson Academy; Jennifer is also an active member of the state's professional library association. Her commitment to this profession has brought school library colleagues together to promote education, advocacy, and support for many years. The learning environment provided by NHSLMA allows for full collaboration and professional development around the state of NH and establishes professional relationships that help grow school libraries.